As we come to the close of another school year
The highlight's an annual well-done
So Jackie and Carol say thanks to everyone
Who helped make the work so much fun.
And we dedicate this book to our advisor
To say Mr. C. thanks a ton.

Campus life is the little things—
the everyday things:
The daily stampede for the lunch line;
Scurrying feet and yelps of despair
as the tardy bell rings;
Studies and their too-heavy books
responsible for a heavy head in the mornings.

The special things:
The newness — but familiarity
of the first day of school;
That electric feeling in the air
before a big game;
The crowning of a queen;
Dances and parties breaking into the routine
of classes and exam day blues;

But most important, campus life is your friends who will stand out profoundly in your memory when school days will have long blurred into a single, meaningful picture.

SPORTS

The easy grace of a runner
rounding the far turn;
The hollow pound of a basketball
and a thunder of feet;
A pop of a gun as swimmers
feverishly plunge into the water;
The crack of a bat
meeting the ball;
The tense moment of waiting
the snap of the ball—
then touchdown and pandemonium;
And after the hard wins, knowing that the daily training had been worthwhile.

Which triplet has the Toni?

When in doubt . . . panic!

Which came first —the chicken or the egg?

Remember when?

"Yo-ho-ho."

Who threw who in?

"Hi!"

Mmmm . . .

Zorro?

Oh, sweet innocence.

To the graduates of 1959:

As you take up this Titanian in future years, may it ever conjure up pleasant memories of the happy and profitable years spent at San Marino High with close friends, midst cherished surroundings, in interesting activities. May it also remind you that you have a tradition to uphold —that of giving back to society the best that's in you!

For the faculty and the administration, I extend to our graduates a hearty "well-done" and our fondest hopes for your continued success and happiness.

FACULTY

The teachers you knew

As necessary to school life as your friends;

The happy ones, the serious,

The gay times, the heavy moments;

Exams, grades, lectures

And yet always surrounded by

And intermingled with a lighter air,

The extra help and appreciated boost,

Unconsciously molding your entire life.
